6. Read the passage below then answer the questions that follow by writing the correct answers in the spaces provided

In our daily life, we sometimes encounter difficult situations which can prevent us from achieving our goals. These difficult situations are called challenges. It is important to recognize that challenges are part of life and that you are not the first to face challenges. Therefore, do not despair when you face challenges. Life has to continue. Other people faced similar challenges, and they managed to address them. Hence, it is a good idea to look for such people and use their experience to deal with your challenges. There are elders in the community who have a lot of experience in handling difficult situations; consult them. Teachers or counselors at your school are helpful resources, too. In addition, think about how you can use your parents or guardians to address your challenges. Involve your parents or guardians in dealing with the challenges facing your family.

Questions

- What are the difficult situations which can prevent us from achieving our goals called?

- Why should you not despair when you face challenges?

- According to the passage above what is a good idea that you can use to address your challenges?

- What kinds of people in the community have a lot of experience in handling difficult situations?

- Who should you involve in dealing with the challenges facing your family?
